101 Uses for a Turd is the cornerstone of the Crapitalist Movement, a radical environmental and social phenomenon initiated by its founder, Billy Genius, who advocates the use of turds as a source of raw material for the production of a wide range of consumer goods. The book is an unedited compilation of 101 highly-detailed and obsessive drawings made by Mr. genius which illustrate the practical application of Crapitalism to the masses, and which he presented to his followers precisely at the dawn of the Turd Millennium. Met with great critical and public acclaim across the globe, 101 Uses for a Turd is this year's winner of the esteemed Poolitzer Prize for Literaturd.
